Welcome to Addington Supplies 2010 catalogue. This is now our seventh year, so a big thank you to all my customers for their continuing support. Thanks to those of you who have recommended Addington Supplies to their friends and colleagues and welcome to customers who found Addington Supplies on the internet.

Originally based on the requirements of Addington Studio the product range has evolved to include materials recommended by other conservators. I am always happy to look into new products recently clamps and fibre glass brushes have been added to the range..

Let us know how you get on. Is there anything you use that everybody could benefit from?

It is the users responsibility to ensure that the goods are suitable for the purpose intended and that they take all the health and safety precautions necessary to protect themselves. Our liability is strictly limited to the invoice value of the items concerned.

PAYMENT

Please send payment with your order. Cheques can be made payable to P.WARNER or ADDINGTON STUDIO or ADDINGTON SUPPLIES. Please remember that packing and postage need to be added to every order. Prices are on the order form.

I now have a PAYPAL account that takes plastic. To find it go to www.addingtonstudio.co.uk; click Addington Supplies; click Orders where you will find a payment button. This is secure; do not email me your card details as you run the risk of them being stolen by a third party.

PAYMENT FROM ABROAD. I suggest you try PAYPAL first as I pay for this service but it is very convenient. My bank is happy to receive money orders from overseas clients at a cost of £10 per order. This also needs to be added to the payment. I will be happy to send details of how to do this on request, but I suggest that you try PAYPAL or your own bank first as they may do a better deal. We have even successfully used the post office Cash Cheque system cost £3.50.

The move to larger premises has worked out well, regular classes are held for a variety of students. The advantage of teaching in my own studio is that all my equipment is in place and Supplies are just across the room. Further details of teaching days at the back of this price list. It is possible to come for 1 day or to undertake the whole course.

Pigments have different densities, weights and prices. I have priced the pigments into quantities suitable for a single conservator.

I mix all my colours from this list by mixing the colours in acetone, allowing it to evaporate and passing the residue through a fine tea strainer. I store them in the 7 ml glass jar

NEW!! Cleaning items

Masters brush cleaner and preserver (water-based) – gets more colour out of the brush 1 oz tub	£4.40
Masters soap bar to get paint out of hands and reduce need for solvents. 4.5 oz	£3.95

7. Bronze powders for gilding

Set of bronze powders in 7ml glass jars. Starter kit	£14.50
--	--------

I use the above colours and mix all my Gold colours from them. I use Rustins clear metal lacquer as the carrier because it give an added twinkle. This is flammable and available only by collection from my studio. It is available from most hardware stores, price around £2.50 - £3.00.

Clean brushes with cellulose thinners. Warning – if you put too much lacquer on the acrylic, it can remove the acrylic.

Golden produce a range of silver, bronze, gold, interference colours and iridescent colours. See colour reference guide, page 17.

8. Water based acrylic glazes and paints

A very brief and rough guide to the use of Golden acrylics for ceramic conservation and restoration as used at Addington Studio.

Paints are made of colour such as pigment and carrier such as oil. The carrier sticks the colour onto the surface.

As a general rule I mix some ceramic porcelain restoration glaze matt with the paint to ensure that the colour sticks to the surface. If I need to achieve a special effect I might occasionally use pure acrylic paint but I ensure that it is on a layer of glaze and preferably sandwiched between two layers. I do not work in the gloss because the finished coating is slightly weaker than the matt and more prone to go tacky. I try to keep the number of coats of gloss glaze to the minimum to achieve the sheen required.

Porcelain Restoration Glazes
Golden porcelain restoration glaze gloss 236ml	£15.95
Golden porcelain restoration glaze matt 236 ml	£15.95
Trial set of 30ml 15 ml gloss and 15 ml matt Golden porcelain restoration glaze.	£5.00
RUSTINS ceramic glaze white gloss 250 ml	£15.90

RUSTINS white NEW SIZE 125ml	£7.99
Trial set of 30 ml 15 ml white and 15ml clear Rustin's ceramic glaze.	£2.50

I recommend that the Golden glazes are purchased in the 236 ml size as the glaze tends to thicken in the jar if kept on the workshop shelf for too long. For further information read Golden artist colours product information sheet Porcelain Restoration Glaze

I do not use the following, but they have been requested and are now in stock

Golden polymer varnish with uvls gloss	£10.30
Golden polymer varnish with uvls matt	£10.30
Golden fluid matt medium 236 ml	£8.95

Gold deep fine 7 (30 ml)	£6.75
Bright gold fine 7 (30 ml)	£6.75

Bronze fine 7 (30 ml)	£6.75
Copper fine 7 (30 ml)	£6.75
Copper light fine 7 (30 ml)	£6.75
Pearl 4 (30 ml)	£5.50

9. Airbrushes

I have decided not to sell airbrushes because of the maintenance. I have yet to find a single airbrush that can deal with all my airbrushing requirements. In order to keep Addington Studio fully functional I run 4 airbrushes two of each of the type that I use. I use the Simair 2000C and the De Vilbiss. I prefer not to mix the airbrush that I use for solvents with those that I use for acrylics as the tiny amount of acrylic residue combines with the solvents causing a slight blockage which interferes with the paint flow and is time consuming to rectify. I have recently purchased a second compressor that has 4 airlines so that I can give classes in airbrushing if any body wishes to attend.

ADDINGTON SUPPLIES

Airbrush Transparent Extender
Airbrush transparent extender 119ml	£6.50
Airbrush medium for thinning fluids 119ml	£6.50
Airbrush transparent extender trial pot 10ml	£2.00

I use transparent extender to thin the glaze and paints. Transparent extender is the clear of the airbrush colour range. Its use results in a tougher film and slows the build up of gunk in the airbrush nozzle. I stick the object under a heat lamp not more than 50°C as I build up layers, to ensure that the underlying layers of coating are dry as well as the surface. This prevents water becoming trapped under a dry surface.

MANY LAYERS OF GLOSS, THINNED WITH WATER WILL PRODUCE A TACKY SURFACE. For further information read the Golden Artists Colours Technical Notes on Drying sheet.

10. GOLDEN PAINTS.

There are three broad types of Golden Paints stocked at Addington Supplies in well over 100 colours. There are three different carriers hence the 3 different ranges. They are known as the airbrush range, the fluid range and the heavy body range. The colours are the same in all three ranges, for example Hansa yellow medium, [basic yellow] is available in airbrush, fluid and heavy body paints. Not all colours are available in all 3 types because some pigments are not easily added to the thinner carrier. So it follows that the heavy body range has 105 colours the fluid range has 58 colours and 24 in the airbrush range. They are all mix and match so I might add a touch of fluid to a mix made for my airbrush and I regularly thin the fluid colour mixes with my airbrush colours.

As conservators we often require individual products for a particular job. I am happy to order anything from the Golden range that I do not have in stock.

GOLDEN starter paint sets
